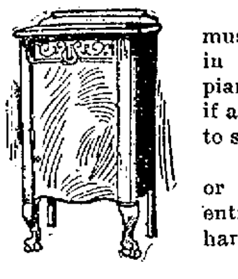
ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1910. PRICE TWO CENTS

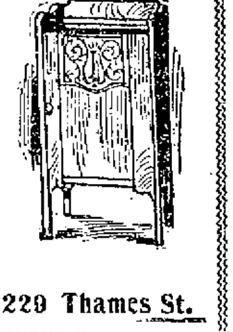
SAFEGUARD THE MUSIC.



$15.75

The music room that lacks a music cabinet is essentially wrong in its practical furnishings. If a piano, why not a place for the music—if a harp, then too why not a place to safeguard the treasured songs? Let the cabinet match the oak or mahogany furniture that the entire decorative scheme may be in harmony. We illustrate two pieces here described, and

EITHER CABINET STANDS THIRTY-NINE INCHES HIGH.



They come in handsomely carved oak imitation mahogany and solve the problem of decorative effect combined with practical usefulness—we commend them for their meritorious worth.

Both are nearly two feet wide and both stand firmly on their four legs. We list the Special Titus Prices at $12.15 and $15.75.

REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS GOOD.

Cabinet Campaigners Bring Encouraging News to White House.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Returning cabinet campaigners brought news to the White House today which, it was stated officially, was quite encouraging as to Republican prospects in various parts of the country. Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary Nagel and Secretary Wilson all spent an hour with the President. They have been out in the campaign during the past week and declared that the Republican cause had grown during the last fortnight. All the cabinet officers who are in the city will receive the election returns at the White House tomorrow evening.

GENERAL STRIKE IS INEVITABLE.

Taxicab Chauffeurs to Go Out in Sympathy.

No Hint of Peace Negotiations in Express Trouble.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Two thousand taxicab drivers struck today in sympathy with the strike of the drivers and helpers of express companies, which has practically tied up express business in and through this city for nearly two weeks. Further spread of the strike movement to the drivers of all vehicles in the city, except those on food supply wagons, seemed imminent. It was announced that a meeting of labor interests to be held today, that a date for a general strike that would tie up practically "everything on wheels" would be decided upon.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is here participating in the conference of the labor leaders, and it was declared the support of the federation would be given the strikers. Extraordinary precautions are being taken by the police to preserve order, in view of the spread of the strike.

There were numerous reports of minor disorders during the forenoon. The centre of apprehension was at the stable of a big wholesale and retail grocery firm, where an attempt was being made to induce the drivers to go out.

All peace negotiations between the express companies and their men have been suspended.

The meeting at which it was decided to call out the chauffeurs was held at an early hour today and, according to the statement of Secretary Foster, of the New York District Council of Teamsters, there were about 3,000 chauffeurs present. It was decided, however not to call out the men in several garages which are said to have maintained strictly union conditions. The taxicab men's leader wanted it understood they said, that the chauffeurs were striking in sympathy with the express men, but added that they had formulated demands of their own, which included recognition of the union, a 12-hour day, with an hour off for dinner, and a weekly wage of $17.50. Attacks on two chauffeurs who had taken out their cabs were early reported.

The strike leaders today declared their belief that a general strike was inevitable. There was no hint of peace negotiations in the early strike news and interest centered in the conferences being held between Samuel Gompers president of the American Federation of Labor, Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and other labor leaders. It was expected that the general council of the teamsters would meet during the day, to decide definitely on the general strike proposition.

Several wagons were sent out today by the Adams Express Company bearing the legend, "This wagon is engaged in interstate commerce only." These wagons were without police protection. The companies claim that because of the interstate character of their business, their drivers are exempt from the municipal ordinance, which provides for the licensing of express drivers.

It was understood that some of the companies had decided not to attempt the further movement of merchandise through the city until after election day, fearing violence during the withdrawal from the streets of thousands of policemen for duty at the polls.

Attacks on chauffeurs who stuck to their jobs were numerous. Twenty eight machines of one company got into the home garage badly crippled, the tires on all of them being cut, and the windows smashed. Some of the smaller companies affected by the strike effected settlements with their chauffeurs during the forenoon, and it was estimated that about 900 in all of the 2,000 men who struck this morning had returned to work. The continued illness of Valentine Hoffman, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, made it seem doubtful if the joint executive council of the brotherhood would meet at the expected time, to decide on the general strike proposition. It was stated that Mr. Hoffman's indisposition was not serious.

Daniel J. Tobin of Indianapolis, general president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, left New York today said to be bound for Chicago or St. Louis. It is declared in labor circles, in this city, that the situation in both Chicago and St. Louis is now as acute as it was in New York a day or so before the strike.

LATHAM FLIES OVER BALTIMORE.

Aviator Covers 22 Miles in Less Than 43 Minutes.

Altitude of 2,500 Feet Reached in Successful Trip.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—With thousands of persons gathered in the streets, upon roof tops, and at every point of vantage, witnessing the spectacle, Hubert Latham, the French aviator, flew over Baltimore today for the $5,000 prize offered by the Sun and Evening Sun. Latham used his 50 horse-power Antoinette and consumed 42 minutes, 10 seconds, in making the round trip from the aviation field, covering an approximate distance of 22 miles and sailing over a route chosen to afford the best possible view of the flight to the inhabitants of Baltimore.

Upon landing at the field on his return Latham said that his flight was very successful. His engine worked perfectly and while the wind was rather strong, blowing about 10 miles an hour, he had no trouble in managing his craft. He estimated that his altitude over the city was about 2,500 feet, descending to a level as low as 500 outside the city. He could plainly hear the noise of the bells and whistles which greeted his appearance.

SECRETARY DICKINSON BACK.

Tour, on Which He Examined Administration of Army Affairs Ended.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Secretary of War Jacob M. Dickinson, with General Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs; Captain Henry M. Cootes the secretary's aide; Mrs. Dickinson, Mrs. Cootes and children, arrived today on steamship Prinz Frederich Wilhelm from Europe, thus ending the secretary's tour around the world. Steamer General Jacob E. Johnston, was sent by General Grant to take the party off at Quarantine. Secretary Dickinson said:

"We left this country July 28 and went to the Philippines, where five weeks were spent in examining the administration of army affairs and various matters pertaining to the service. On the way there we passed through Tokio. After leaving the Philippines we went to China and at Pekin I presented a letter from President Taft to the emperor. Thence by way of Siberia we went to St. Petersburg and to Berlin. Our object was to go to the Philippines to inspect and consider army affairs, and our trip was made through Asia and Europe in preference to going back by the Pacific."

SPEED SAVES THE BALLOON.

Bomb Hurled in Air from Fireworks Department Strikes Craft.

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 7.—A dirigible balloon driven by Harry Ginter, in an exhibition flight yesterday at the state fair grounds, was struck by a bomb hurled into the air from the camp of the fireworks department of the fair. The bomb struck the framework of the airship at an altitude of 100 feet and tilted it dangerously, but the speed of the craft saved it from the concussion then the bombs exploded.

CAUSE OF EXPLOSION UNKNOWN

Attempt Being Made to Rescue Men Entombed at Lawson Coal Mines.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 7.—Though little hope is held out for the safety of any of the 15 men who were caught by yesterday's gas explosion in the Lawson Coal mine, at Black Diamond, rescuers are working to reach the entombed miners. At midnight they had reached the first level, at a depth of 350 feet. The work is extremely hazardous, owing to crumbling walls. It is thought to be barely possible that five of the men who were in a car below the sixth level may have escaped death. If the explosion occurred above the level, it is believed that the car was shut off by a slide of earth and the five men may be imprisoned 2,200 feet below the surface.

The explosion completely wrecked the workings of the mine, causing the walls to cave in and hurling heavy timbers and steel supporters out of the mouth of the shaft, with such violence, that they were shot hundreds of feet from the mine. The cause of the explosion has not yet been ascertained.

MARKED BY DISTINCTNESS.

Justice Hughes Delivers His First Opinion in Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Justice Charles E. Hughes today delivered his first opinion in the Supreme Court of the United States, when he announced the decision of the court in a case wherein an attack was made on a conveyance of valuable land in Trenton, Mo., by Dr. James H. Kerfoot, deceased, to the First National Bank of Trenton. Robert Earl Kerfoot, a son of Dr. Kerfoot, sought to have the deed set aside on the grounds that the bank had no authority under its charter to receive the land. Justice Hughes held that it had long been decided that only the government could object to the exercise by a federal bank of power beyond its charter, and upheld the conveyance. Justice Hughes delivered his opinion in a clear tone that marked him as a rival of Justice Lurton for distinctness in announcing decision of the court.

FOR RAISING THE MAINE.

Consignment of Steel Sheet Piling Arrives in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—A train of 50 freight cars carrying 1,300 tons of steel sheet piling, to be used in connection with the raising of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor, arrived here today from Buffalo. Every car bore a banner with the inscription describing the purpose for which the steel is to be used. The piling will be sent to Havana on a steamship sailing from this port. The shipment is the first of a consignment of 5,000 tons.

VALLADARES IN COMPLETE CONTROL

Honduran Rebellion Spreads to Southern Coast.

United States Gunboat Princeton to Give Protection.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—The Honduran rebellion, started by General Valladares on the little island of Amapala, is spreading to the southern coast of Honduras, according to a special cable to the Picayune from Guatemala City.

Valladares is still in complete control of Amapala and, according to the Guatemala despatch, President Davila has advised Commander Hayes of United States gunboat Princeton, now anchored in Fonseca bay, of his inability to cope with the situation and asked that the Princeton's commander take any necessary steps to protect foreigners and foreign interests in Amapala.

IN GARRISON AT AMAPALA.

General Valladares Defies President Davila to Depose Him.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—General Valladares is still entrenched in his garrison at Amapala, defying President Davila to depose him, according to the latest word received at the State Department from United States Minister McCreery. The Navy Department has had no advices from Commander Hayes of gunboat Princeton for several days. Gunboat Yorktown was due to reach Amapala last night from Panama, to relieve the Princeton, but her arrival had not been reported to the department today.

BIDS FOR NEW DESTROYERS.

Navy Department to Ask for Contracts for Building Six.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Bids for the construction of six torpedo boat destroyers for the United States navy will be opened at the Navy Department tomorrow. Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop has notified the three shipbuilders, who recently asked him to change the specifications so as to permit the trials of the vessels to be held over the Lewes, Del., course, instead of the Rockland, Maine course, that they might submit alternate bids to cover trials over both courses. The shipbuilders interested claim it would cost $10,000 more per vessel to hold the trials over the Rockland course, owing to its great distance from the respective yards at Newport News, Philadelphia and Camden. The Fore River Yard prefers to have the trials held over the Rockland course.

ON THE WAY TO ESQUIMAULT.

Cruiser Rainbow, First of Canada's Warships on the Pacific.

VICTORIA, British Columbia, Nov. 7.—Canadian Cruiser Rainbow, the first of Canada's warships on the Pacific, entered the Straits of Juan de Fuca last night, and will come to Esquimault today. The deputy minister of marine, S. J. Desbarats, will take over the Esquimault naval station from the imperial officers today. This is in accordance with an arrangement made with the British admiralty.

TAFT'S WIRE TO PRENTICE.

President Says Stimson's Election Seems Important to Him.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The following telegram from President Taft was received today at Republican state headquarters:

"Hon. Ezra P. Prentice, Republican state chairman, New York.

"I am much obliged to you for your encouraging report on the political situation in New York and sincerely hope that you are right and will win by a substantial majority. Stimson's election seems to me very important and I am very desirous of it. It seems incredible to me that any Republican should be willing to turn the state over to the Democratic party.

"William H. Taft."

GENERAL STRIKE EFFECTIVE.

Otis Elevator Company Constructors in Many Cities Go Out.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—A general strike of elevator constructors employed by the Otis Elevator Company, in various cities of the country, became effective today. One hundred men in Boston and a number in Springfield and Brockton were among those called out. Should non-union men be engaged to take the strikers' places the building trades union officials will order a sympathetic strike, it is announced. The strike originated in Chicago, where a disagreement over wages occurred.

AVIATOR ABANDONS FLIGHT.

McCurdy Balked by Storm in His Plan to Leave Liner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—J. D. McCurdy did not attempt to fly to Governor's Island from some point off Fire Island today, as was planned. He was to have left on steamship Kaiserin Auguste Victoria with his biplane.

Under the supervision of Glenn H. Curtiss a platform having a slight incline was erected on the after deck of the steamship. This platform was 80 feet long and at the after end was 60 feet above the water.

The steamer was to leave at 11 o'clock and would reach a point off Fire Island, about 50 miles away, at 2 o'clock. Then McCurdy was to glide off the platform and speed back to Governor's Island. The storm, continuing all day and showing no signs of abating, caused McCurdy to call the flight off. If the weather is suitable he will try to make the flight November 21, when he will leave on Hamburg-American Line steamship America.

MIDDLETOWN

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Rev. John B. Diman, head master at St. George's School, who is to spend a portion of his Sabbatical year in Europe, will sail Tuesday from New York. He expects to spend the winter in Germany and Italy.

Mr. W. Clarence Peckham is quite ill at his home on Prospect avenue, having been stricken last week with a paralysis of the eyes which makes it necessary for him to remain in a darkened room. Beside a regular physician, Mr. Peckham is also under the care of an eye specialist. His condition is considered serious.

Rev. Mr. Burleson of New York, secretary of missions, preached Sunday at St. Mary's Church, Portsmouth, and at Holy Cross Chapel, Middletown, speaking also to the Sunday Schools. He was formerly stationed in North Dakota. He is a fluent and interesting speaker, and especially held the attention of the children, by telling them that the mite boxes which they present each year, all pass through his hands. He also related many stories of the good which has been accomplished in the missionary fields through these yearly offerings.

Mr. Charles H. Sisson of Vaucluse avenue, whose leg was badly fractured early last week in falling from the roof at the estate of Madam Bonat, Indian avenue, is doing as well as can be expected. The leg was set Friday, after having been subjected to the X-ray. Mr. Sisson was carried at once to the Newport Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peckham of Wapping road are entertaining Mrs. Almy of Newport and Miss Althea Carr of Portsmouth.

Mrs. Lyman H. Barker is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Nicholson, on Prospect avenue, suffering from an aggravated form of muscular rheumatism.

Last week, by the slipping of a number of shingles on the roof of Mr. Arthur Chase's house on Paradise avenue, Mr. J. Willis Peckham was thrown to the ground. His fall was broken by striking a hen-house, and although no bones were broken he was bruised and badly shaken up.

A committee from the official board of the Methodist Episcopal Church is arranging, in co-operation with the pastor, Rev. C. E. Delamater, a course of lectures and entertainments, musical and literary, to be given during the winter months.

Mrs. Lalla Greenman left last week for Chicago, where she expects to remain two months.

Mrs. Laura Barker, who recently returned to her home on Paradise avenue, from the Newport Hospital, does not improve. Her trouble, which was first thought to be a dislocated hip, has proved to be an injury to her back, which renders her quite helpless. Mrs. Irving Barker is being assisted in caring for her by Misses Hattie and Minnie Brown.

Miss Edith M. Peckham, who is teaching in Morristown, N. J. and who has been ill during the past three weeks with the grip, is now recovering. Her mother, who has been caring for her, returned home Friday.

O'SHAUNESSY'S RECORD.

Candidate for Congress Defends Connection With Tammany.

Mahoney, Thurston and Fitzsimmons Other Speakers at Second Democratic Rally.

The Democrats had another enthusiastic rally in Realty hall Saturday evening, the second of the week for them. Previous to the meeting the Newport Military Band gave a concert in front of the hall. It looked as though that was to be the only thing, but soon after 8 o'clock the band went into the hall, and then there was another wait. The crowd did not seem to be about and was slow in assembling, but finally, at 8.25 Chairman J. P. Mahoney was seen going up the aisle with Mr. O'Shaunessy and followed by the speakers and other candidates. All the local candidates were present and all but one, who was there with his wife, occupied seats on the platform. Chairman Mahoney presided.

Chairman Mahoney.

Unlike Mayor Boyle, Mr. Mahoney believed the presiding officer should say something and made a ten-minute speech which showed that he is still a good campaigner. His remarks were in a general way applicable to Newport and to Rhode Island. He spoke of the signs of a general upheaval of the voters against the conditions prevailing, which was first shown in Maine and promises to be shown all over the land. The declarations of such Republican leaders as Dolliver, La Follette and others against conditions which exist sustain the Democratic contention that a change is necessary. He believed that Newport needs a change as well as the rest of the state. The high cost of living appeals to every one.

In this city the Democrats have put up the most available men on their ticket, men who are independent and able and when the voters go to the polls Tuesday they should look the ticket over carefully and pay no attention to the paid workers, especially in the Fourth district, where they are working for a candidate whose only qualification for office is the possession of immense wealth and whose political career is characterized by nothing but the reckless expenditure of money. Remember, you are voting for principles and not for men. Register your protest against the existence of these conditions and vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom.

Mr. Thurston.

James H. Thurston of Providence was the second speaker. His last appearance in Newport was in the first campaign of Governor Higgins and he thought that was an augury for success again this year. He is not a candidate, but could speak from the same point of view as his hearers, and proceeded to make the hall ring. He had the crowd worked up until those in the hall were adding things to his sayings and some went so far as to help him finish some of his sentences.

The Brown victory over Yale, news of which he had just received, cheered the speaker to some lively talk and he said that as the students were then cheering "Old Brown," so would the Democrats Tuesday night be cheering Judge Brown, the candidate for United States Senator. He spoke strongly of the qualifications of Judge Brown for the position and urged that representatives be sent to the legislature to elect a man so well suited to fulfil the many duties of a United States Senator, an office third in importance in the United States. Reference was made to Senator Aldrich feeling that he could not again be elected and dropping out but coming back and insisting on naming his successor, and naming a man who is not identified with anything in the political line, who has not even been a member of a school committee, is not a parliamentarian and will be merely a vote for what Aldrich stands for in the absence of Aldrich. He spoke of the reference to Mr. Waterman, the candidate for governor, as a second Abraham Lincoln, and said the comparison is a good one. In appearance, in manner, in his ideas and his love of the real interests of the people, Lew Waterman is a second Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Thurston referred to the reports that the recent Republican Club dinner was somewhat short in food and asked what could be expected with the present high prices; what more expensive gift can a man give at this time than a good dinner? He recalled that Mr. Sheffield left the tariff matter to a Massachusetts Congressman. What do Newporters care about a Massachusetts Congressman? They desire to know Mr. Sheffield's position on the tariff. They wish to know why he voted for Cannon, why he voted for the Payne-Aldrich tariff. These are things you wish to know from Mr. Sheffield, and he is here to speak for himself.

At this period Judge Fitzsimmons arrived and cheers for him stopped proceedings. Concluding, the speaker called for generous support of Lewis A. Waterman for governor. He said if the Democrats carry the [illegible] more needed if the [illegible] carry the legislature. He would show them what a governor [illegible] the veto power. Governor Pothier [illegible] he had something [illegible] Waterman [illegible] but Waterman would have [illegible] on the other [illegible] governor. Governor Pothier signed every bill sent him by the legislature. Governor Waterman would stop bills which he knew were against the people's interests. The speaker had the [illegible] from the start, and the [illegible] the more he [illegible] he was taking part in [illegible] and the more he [illegible] up.

The best way to carry Ashes is in a Hod!

Crawford Ranges

Have an Ash Hod in the base into which all the ashes fall far below the fire. They can't bank against the grates and warp them, and they can be emptied easily without spilling.

The Coal Hod is alongside the Ash Hod—out of the way. This feature is a wonderful labor and trouble saver and is patented.

Another trouble-saver of the Crawford is the patented Single Damper. One motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check" —the range does the rest. No damper mistakes.

The Oven has cup-joint heat flues that heat it alike in all parts.

Ask the Crawford agent to show you and write us for circular.

The Newport Journal AND WEEKLY NEWS is especially adapted for ma

PRESIDENT ENDORSES PLAN.

Secretary Meyer Ends Long Tour and Is Preparing Changes in Naval Administration.

Back from his long campaign tour of nearly 14,000 miles, which took him as far west as Seattle and as far south as Pensacola in the United States, and included a trip to Guantanamo on board the Dolphin, Secretary of the Navy Meyer is preparing some important changes in naval administration.

Mr. Meyer reached Washington Sunday morning and went to the White House for a conference with President Taft. Mr. Meyer's plans have not been gone over in detail with the President, but in a general way they have the strongest endorsement from the White House, President Taft several days ago letting it become known that he was greatly pleased with them.

Aside from the all important plan of establishing a naval base at Guantanamo, there is to be made effective a concentration of navy yard forces on the Atlantic coast, which will involve the abolition of several yards there and on the Gulf of Mexico and will entail other work looking to more effective and especially more economical naval administration.

Announcement of the navy yards to be abandoned will be postponed until the entire plan is worked out in detail. It is known, however, that only a navy yard of secondary importance is believed necessary on the Gulf, to be used in conjunction with the Guantanamo station. Mr. Meyer said that the fleet would not be expected to be in the Pacific again prior to the completion of the Panama canal.

Mr. Meyer pricked several speculative bubbles, among them that he proposed to establish a naval base at Panama and that he was giving serious consideration to a plan to amalgamate the constructors and pay corps with the navy line. Both these plans Mr. Meyer said he had never heard of.

The Secretary's trip first took him to Chicago, where he visited the naval training station. He then took in Seattle, the navy yard at Bremerton and the ship building and repair works of the Moran Brothers. At San Francisco the Mare Island navy yard was inspected, the coaling station at Tyburon, the training station on Goat Island, the Union Iron Works and the Hunter's Point dry dock.

Mr. Meyer then went to Los Angeles where he visited the new San Pedro harbor, urged by the people of that section as the site for the new torpedo station. Then he went to San Diego, where there is a small coaling station, without coal or facilities for handling it.

The traveler inspected the naval station at New Orleans, where he found a fine large floating dock and large shops, with very little machinery in them. The Pensacola navy yard he found not in good condition. It is an old established yard, with some few new buildings. It is probable that this yard will be closed under the new navy yard plan.

Visiting Key West, Mr. Meyer found the yard had suffered some damage from the recent hurricane. The coaling plant particularly suffered though it can be repaired at slight cost by using parts from the coaling station at Dry Tortuges which was abandoned long ago.

Mr. Meyer feels that his visit to the Guantanamo naval station was of great benefit. The bay is an admirable one, large and sufficient to hold many vessels. The shores are so low that buildings can be placed on them without levelling or expensive work of preparation and there is one place at which large floating docks could be placed with only about 10 feet of dredging.

THE STERRETT'S FINAL TEST.

New Destroyer Exceeds the Contract Speed and Makes Better Mark Than the Perkins.

Torpedo boat destroyer Sterrett completed her builders' tests with a four-hour run from Rockland, Maine, to Boston late Sunday, when she dropped the government board and proceeded to the Fore River shipyards, where she was built, to be overhauled and made ready for final acceptance a month later at Charlestown navy yard.

The final test was a four-hour run, at which the Sterrett was obliged to make 29½ knots an hour with the screws averaging 597 revolutions per minute. The destroyer made from 29.4 to 30.5 knots, thus exceeding the contract speed, while the economy tests were considered highly satisfactory.

The Sterrett has completed her 12 hours run at 16 knots; 12 hours run at 25 knots; four hours run and standardization tests, for which she was sent to Rockland, the trials being postponed two days on account of the weather.

The mean high speed of the various runs was 31.65 knots, while the record mile was 32.33 knots, which is a better mark than the Sterrett's sister ship, the Perkins, which made 29.78 knots, and but little lower than the Paulding, which did 32.80 knots, and has the record of the six oil-burning torpedo boat destroyers now tested.

Four more of these destroyers remain to be tried out, and their trials will be held on the Delaware course within the next eight or 10 weeks.

PERSONALS.

....As a result of the inventory of the estate of Sebastian D. Lawrence of New London, at $9,133,000, the state of Connecticut will receive at least [illegible] as an inheritance tax.

....The state game warden has issued a license to hunt in Texas to William J. Bryan, who will arrive at his farm near Mission, in the lower Rio Grande valley, November 22. Mr. Bryan will spend several weeks there, cultivating the land and shooting ducks. He has just finished building a house on the farm.

....Charles Hinckley, who is 84 years old, and his brother, Frank K. Hinckley, who is 80 years old, celebrated their birthdays together at Lee, [illegible] last week. They are sons of [illegible] and Henrietta Bassett Hinckley of Stockbridge, where they were born on the same day of the year. They were both educated in the Stockbridge schools and the Lee Academy.

....Queen Alexandra's return to London from Denmark has been preceded by ill-natured gossip respecting her jealousy of Queen Mary, and one [illegible] paper announces that she insists [illegible] ruling from the king equalizing the positions of the two queens. This [illegible] is believed to be baseless, the relations between the two queens being cordial, and King George being a considerate and affectionate son.

....Sir Clifton Robinson, managing director and engineer of the London United Electric Tramways and director of the Underground Railway of London, died suddenly on a New York street car Sunday. Sir Clifton was born in [illegible] and his professional life had been largely associated with transportation problems. He built the first tramway in Europe, at Birkenhead, and was later a pioneer builder of [illegible] and electric traction lines in London, Bristol and Los Angeles, Cal., and in Europe. He designed and constructed the London United Electric tramways system and later was concerned in the promotion of the great London Tube railway system, the equivalent of the New York subway.

The voting lists as made up for the election show a total of 5,243 names, or 168 more than were on last year at the state election, November 2, 1909. Every ward shows an increase over the figures of last year, and the First ward has the largest gain. As this is the first year of districts, a comparison with the figures of last year cannot be made by districts, but only by wards. The following shows the total number of names on the lists of the several districts this year, of the several wards this year and last year, and the gain by wards:

District	Prec. 1	Prec. 2	Prec. 3	Total
	1910	1910	1909	1910
	Districts	Wards	Wards	Gain
1	674	1001	940	61
2	1343	1301	1271	30
3	1149	1025	983	42
4	1127	915	911	4
5	948	1001	970	31
	5243	5243	5075	168

The number of names on the several voting precinct or district lists for tomorrow is:

1	674			674
2	1145	200		1345
3	866	156	127	1149
4	915	159	53	1127
5	948			948

Of these 1,934 are real estate, 2,182 personal property and 1,137 registry, but as all vote alike there seems to be no reason for giving the number of each in the several districts

There will be some inquiry as to how things went last year. Following are the figures for Newport city, for Newport county and for the state, for the governor, for the years 1909 and 1908. The Newport vote is by wards. This year the figures will be by districts, but a comparison can be made by tabulating the vote of the districts which make up the wards.

THE SAND MAN.

[Arthur Macy, in St. Nicholas.]

The Sand Man is coming, dears, coming from the skies;
He has a little box of sand to throw in little eyes,
From east and west he brings you rest, and just before the night
He scatters sand about the land and shuts your eyelids tight.

When little folk are tired of noise, and put their heads in laps,
He gaily dances over hills with pockets full of naps;
And up he climbs at sleepy times to sleepy little heads,
And makes them yawn before he's gone for little trundle beds.

Listen to the Sand Man knocking at the door;
Listen to the Sand Man, he's been here before,
The Sand Man is coming, dears, coming from the skies;
Sleepy tunes he's humming, dears to help you shut your eyes.

THE FREAK HAT IS PASSING.

[Millinery Trade Review.]

Mrs. Jesse W. Tobey, instructress in the department of domestic science of the Teachers' College of Columbia University, who returned from Europe at the beginning of the month, is being widely quoted by the city and outside press on the subject of millinery. She said the freak hat was passing. The time was coming when each woman would wear the hat that was becoming to her own particular style, regardless of the extreme fashions. She had found that Parisian women of taste regarded the American women in Paris as more stylish than the Parisian women themselves. There was little doubt, Mrs. Tobey said, that eventually New York would be the centre of fashion and would dictate the styles of the world.

This may be all very well from a teacher's viewpoint, but as long as Paris remains the universal hub of fashion, so long will American women of means prefer Parisian styles in everything pertaining to women's wear. As women of small towns and cities rush to the large cities for their styles, so will women of the large cities emulate Paris and copy her styles.

Keep the Kidneys Well.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Newport People Know How to Save It.

Many Newport people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Newport citizen's recommendation.

A. J. Oakley, 20 Gould St., Newport, R. I., says: "I can highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I have used them with the best of results. I was led to procure this remedy at Wright & Hay's Drug Store by the many favorable reports I heard about it, and I was not the least disappointed with the results that followed its use."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

SUBSCRIBERS WHO DO NOT RECEIVE THEIR PAPERS REGULARLY AND IN GOOD CONDITION SHOULD MAKE COMPLAINT AT THE OFFICE

AS IT LOOKS THE DAY BEFORE.

Election prophecies in a tidal-wave year are hazardous at best, but it may nevertheless be said that there are no indications that Rhode Island at least is to share in a great Democratic landslide, whatever other states may do. There is no good reason, and not much probability, that Governor Pothier and the other tried and capable general officers will be displaced by their opponents, or that a legislature with other than a substantial Republican majority will be chosen. It does not seem likely that the voters of the First Congressional district will prefer Mr. O'Shaunessy to Mr. Sheffield, or that such a man as ex-Governor Utter will not be chosen in the Second district rather than his inexperienced antagonist, Mr. Cooney. In short, it looks as though Rhode Island were likely to go safely Republican as usual—for the reason if no other, that there is no object to be gained in making a change.

A HEARING FOR ALL.

The Daily News, as is its invariable rule, has opened its columns in the present campaign to statement and discussion of all sides of questions affecting the canvass, and has not attempted to confine even the advertisements to those agreeing with its own opinions. The News, in its peculiar situation as a public newspaper, could hardly do otherwise in the interest of fair play. Public meetings of both parties have been fully and fairly reported. Among the issues to be decided at the election Tuesday is the question whether Newport is to have the legal sale of liquor for another year. A good deal has been said on the subject, but without exception all this has been on one side of the question, which is somewhat curious. This is true, it may be, because no one has cared to come forward and claim that the public saloon is anything but a public curse everywhere and always. The advertising columns have contained matter sent by the liquor interests, but the statements were so ridiculously untrue that the printing could hardly deceive the most simple. To see the force of this remark it is only necessary to refer to the statements.

A PECULIAR CAMPAIGN.

There have been some curious features in the political campaign now closing, and they have not been confined to either of the big parties. It is [illegible] amusing for instance that [illegible] subject as lobsters should have occupied so prominent a place in the arguments of the candidates for Congress on the Republican and Democratic tickets. This has been [illegible] a state issue and has been treated as seriously and at as much length as though it were one of the most important matters which could [illegible] the deliberation of the Congress. It is doubtful, however, if a [illegible] number of the hundreds of voters who have heard one side or the other of the arguments as they have been made by the candidates in various parts of the state, or have read the reports of them in the newspapers, [illegible] any clear idea as to what [illegible] has all been about or why [illegible] have been made so prominent in the campaign, while to [illegible] the state who might be [illegible] interested the issue of this [illegible] and little [illegible] so much [illegible] of such a subject.

It seems [illegible] strange, too, that Mr. O'Shaunessy, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the First District, should have confined himself almost entirely to a [illegible] discussion of the tariff and the matter of high prices for the necessities of life, which is so closely associated with the tariff in campaign arguments, and some of his friends must have wondered considerably what has happened to the silver-tongued orator of other days. Mr. O'Shaunessy is ordinarily a graceful, forceful and eloquent speaker and not at all one who would be expected to limit himself to such a discussion of the tariff as has been his whole style of speech-making during this campaign. He likes to gesticulate, use smooth sentences and cultivate the graces of the orator, but he has been curbed in these inclinations and instead of a magnetic speaker has been one of the dullest and most commonplace. It would be only justice to Mr. O'Shaunessy, therefore, for some one to rise and explain that he has not changed at all in his oratorical ability, but that the difference in the character of his addresses in this campaign has been due to the fact that he has been told by his party leaders that he must cut out all his former oratorical flourishes as unbecoming the dignity of a candidate for Congress and confine himself to a cold discussion of the subjects upon which he has been speaking, as more in keeping with the position which he aspires to hold in the councils of the nation.

It has been noticeable, also, that Lieutenant Governor Bliss and Speaker Burchard have not been doing much talking in public in this campaign. The latter especially has usually been prominent as a speaker, but neither of these Republican office holders has this year had much to say in public on the issues of the campaign, and not a few have been wondering as to the reason for this almost dead silence on their part. On the Democratic side former Governor Higgins, ex-Mayor Fitzgerald of Pawtucket and James A. Williams, who are among the best of the campaign orators in that party, have not been conspicuous in the rallies. They have all done some talking, but there seems to have been a discouragement this year of the fiery kind of oratory which these men affect, and the campaign has lost in a spectacular way quite materially for that reason, though greater dignity may have been attained.

The matter of the election of a successor to United States Senator Aldrich has also been a peculiar one during most of the campaign. It is unusual when such an issue is involved for one party to name its candidate and boom his candidacy and for the other to maintain a strict silence on the subject. There has been no secrecy regarding the reason for this reticence on the part of the Republicans and every one who is conversant with political affairs in this state has known that it was because the party was divided over candidates and neither side was anxious to declare itself until it was assured of success in supporting its choice. Now that uncertainty has been ended by the withdrawal from the race of Colonel Samuel P. Colt for business reasons, leaving the field open at present at least to Henry F. Lippitt, the silence of the Republicans has been ended and this has ceased to claim attention as a curious phase of the campaign.

These peculiar features, together with some others of a not unlike nature, have given the canvass less snap and vigor than is often the case, but have injected considerable interest because of their unusual character. On the whole, the ante-election struggle this year has not had the force and vitality usually manifested by the two big parties in their campaign.

RECIPROCITY AND ANNEXATION.

The London Standard looks with suspicion on negotiations between this country and Canada for reciprocal trade concessions. It thinks the effect of more intimate trade relations with the United States must tend to weaken the connection with England and prepare the way for the separation of Canada from the British empire and its absorption into the Union. We do not pretend to know what Canadian sentiment on reciprocity is. Probably Canada is ready for reciprocity in crude products. This would probably not be accepted by the United States, while reciprocity in manufactured goods might not be accepted in Canada. There are differences of opinion and no one on this side of the line knows what is the prevailing sentiment on the other side. Assuming that Canadian sentiment is favorable to reciprocity, we are inclined to think a treaty with us would have exactly the opposite effect from that which the London Standard fears.

Canada is at present loyal to Great Britain because she is left free to regulate her own commercial interests. She can make her own tariff. She gives the mother country a substantial preference in rates. They do not have much effect on Canadian trade with this country, but they are given voluntarily; they are not forced on Canada. If her connection with England were felt to be financially burdensome to the Dominion she would become restive under the British crown. In other words, her political ties remain whole because no severe commercial strain is put on them. If she were conscious of suffering from restrictions of trade with the United States it would cause commercial discontent which would affect her feelings. Assuming that she desires reciprocity with us, it is probable that the denial of such an arrangement would keep Canadians thinking of the advantages to be obtained by entering our Union. If she can retain her present sentimental relations with Great Britain and have all the trade she desires with us, she would be too well satisfied with the condition to give any thought to the alteration of her political status.

ORGANIZED LAW EVASION.

That no inconsiderable part of the purpose of many of the automobile organizations in this country is to antagonize the passage of restrictive laws against their sport and pleasures and to defeat the enforcement of laws already on the books is not open to doubt if one follows their working. A feature of several of the prominent organizations is to keep their members posted upon the localities where there is an effort to enforce law, the police traps for catching speeders and other methods devised for securing cases against law evaders. Now the Royal Automobile club of England, which has conscientiously stood for the enforcement of the law, finds itself in the position where to retain its membership it must provide free legal advice to its members when arrested for speeding. There is one salutary exception in the new law, that the club committee reserves the right to refuse this free legal representation to any member who may be considered guilty of inconsiderate driving. With the dangers which lurk in automobiling for both those who ride and those who walk it would seem as if there should be some way of reaching these organizations whose prime object is to defy the law.

The trustees of Princeton University will not elect a successor to Woodrow Wilson as president until it is known whether or not he is elected governor of New Jersey. If he fails to win that honor the trustees will undoubtedly elect him to succeed himself.

The political forecasts in the several states are as wide as the difference in the desires of those who make them. In New York the Republican and the Democratic committees are only 200,000 apart—one claiming the state for Stimson by 100,000 and the other for Dix by a like figure.

Several earthquake shocks were experienced Sunday in Alaska. Perhaps tomorrow there may be evidences of upheavals in other parts of this country.

New York is facing the possibility of a general tie-up of all its expressing facilities and the complete cessation of delivery service. It is not a pleasant prospect.

No, Maudie, it is not true that Theodore Roosevelt is running for governor in all the states.

Now that the President has issued his proclamation we can all make our plans for Thanksgiving.

There are plenty of candidates who feel sure they will win—at least, they say they are sure.

In Connecticut tomorrow it is a question whether Good-win or Baldwin will win.

The last word has been said—for this campaign.

THE RIGHT WAY.

[New York Tribune.]

The prompt disposal by the English courts of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen's appeal is another example of security and expedition in the administration of justice by which the American public ought to profit. Crippen was tried without the delays and sensationalism which mark so many notable trials for murder in this country. He was found guilty on what seemed to the jury to be absolutely convincing evidence. His counsel appealed for a reversal of the verdict on technical grounds, as is the common practice here, but instead of treating that appeal as entitling him to an indefinite respite, the higher courts took up the case within two weeks and made an end of it.

Criminals with ample resources have been able to maintain a fight for reversal in our courts lasting a year or even two years. Suspensions on the ground of reasonable doubt, arguments in one appeal court and then in another and even a resort to the United States Supreme Court, have delayed the necessities of a fair re-hearing. A convicted felon has the right to ask that the procedure in his trial be passed upon, if he thinks that he has not enjoyed the full protection of the law. But the courts ought not to allow immaterial technicalities to nullify a verdict or to afford the prisoner undue advantages in obstructing the course of justice. Simpler and swifter methods in the conduct of criminal trials here would do a defendant no wrong and would help greatly to restore public confidence in the efficiency of our system of criminal administration.

PLANS FOR A NAVY YARD IN PANAMA.

Plans are being prepared in the Navy Department for a new navy yard, which is to be established on the isthmus of Panama. It has not yet been decided whether this establishment shall be on the Atlantic or Pacific side of the canal zone, and it is foreseen that there may be some objection in Congress to providing for a new plant of this character. The naval authorities, however, will point out the military necessity of such a yard, in anticipation of the repair facilities which must be conveniently on hand in event of war, when naval operations may be near the canal approaches. It is believed that the canal would be an object of attack on account of its strategic value.

None of the navy yards on the Gulf coast, such as the plant at Algiers, La., and Key West and Pensacola, Fla., are so situated geographically or so capable of the expansion of plant as to be of much use as a repair station and war base. The yard at Guantanamo, Cuba, has met with much disfavor in Congress, and naval officers have not been able to agree on the wisdom of completing the equipment at that place. The work done on the large dry dock and in installing machinery has been arrested, and much of the mechanism, in the way of movable tools, has been brought to home yards. The objection to a repair plant at Guantanamo arises from the difficulty of adequately defending that place. It is so much exposed to the raking fire of an enemy, and is incapable of being fortified according to the judgment of some officers.

Governor Pothier Specifies His Charges Against Waterman.

Steps Toward Forming a State Milk Trust—Commissioner Cross Again Appointed.

Governor Pothier, at several Republican rallies Saturday evening, answered Mr. Waterman's demand for "proofs" of his former assertion that the Democratic candidate has appeared in a "dubious action against the state." The governor says Mr. Waterman represented the Sperry Engineering Company of Connecticut against a state commission, and said his client "did not get a square deal." The governor says he sees nothing in the North Carolina bond deal which needs to be explained, and attacks Mr. Waterman upon his taxation views. He asks his opponent if he will veto the proposed Republican tax legislation.

Another step in the direction of the formation of a milk trust in this state was taken Saturday, when a special meeting of the Rhode Island Milk Producers' Association was held for the purpose of completing plans for the new trust, but owing to the fact that the wet weather kept many of the members away those present did not take final action. The plans for the new combine were discussed, and it is said they are almost in shape for the launching of the concern. It will be known as the Co-operative Milk Company and its object will be to control the milk output of the state. The meeting was brought about by the special committee appointed to organize the co-operative company, appointed at the September meeting of the association. The duty of this committee was to communicate with all the farmers in the state who produce milk, and whip them into line with the new organization. So successful have been these efforts that all who attended the meeting Saturday were satisfied that the movement should be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible. The idea of the co-operative plan is to arrange matters that all the farmers of the state may sell their product through one head. In the past some of the farmers have sold under the price fixed by the association, and others above its figure. It is to prevent this that the new company is being formed. Its promoters say that when it has been formed, any one buying milk of the farmers must make the purchase through the company or its officers.

William Pierce Cross was Saturday re-appointed United States commissioner for the District of Rhode Island for four years, by United States District Judge Arthur L. Brown. Mr. Cross is clerk of the United States circuit and district courts for the District of Rhode Island, having been appointed to the district court place December 12, 1888, when Henry Pitman resigned after long service in order to give all his time to the circuit court. On the death of Mr. Pitman, Mr. Cross was made clerk of the circuit court also, April 2, 1894, and has held the two positions since, with the commissioner's duties added in 1902. Mr. Cross in June, 1907, was appointed a member of the Board of State Charities and Corrections, by Governor Higgins, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Colonel R. H. I. Goddard. The following January Governor Higgins re-appointed him, but the state senate did not agree to the appointment, taking the same course in that case as in others of Governor Higgins's appointments. Mr. Cross is a native of Hartford, Conn., where he was born in 1862. He was graduated from the Plainfield, Conn., Academy and taught school in Coventry, this state, nearly three years. For the ensuing seven years he was in the railroad service, being employed in both the ticket and freight departments of the Boston & Providence Railroad in Providence, and later was clerk to Superintendent J. B. Gardiner of the New York, Providence & Boston railroad. His long service as clerk of federal courts has made him widely known among federal judges, attorneys and officials, and his more than ordinary familiarity with matters pertaining to the office has received recognition from the department at Washington. He is a resident of Barrington.

Godfrey J. Richards, about 35 years old, died at the Rhode Island Hospital Sunday morning of injuries sustained when he fell on alighting backward from an automobile about midway between Greenville and Centredale Saturday afternoon. His skull was fractured by the fall. The victim lived in Providence. A brother-in-law of Mr. Richards, Philip la Traverse, owns the automobile from which the former fell, and runs the machine between Greenville and Centredale, carrying passengers. Mr. Richards went with him Saturday afternoon. As the machine neared the La Traverse home the operator slowed down as he intended to make a stop there. Mr. Richards rose from his seat before the motor car came to a stop and started to alight. He swung off backwards and fell, striking heavily on his head in the road. The man was unconscious when taken up and was seen to be seriously injured. He was operated on, but failed to rally.

Bristol is planting young shade trees in many places to replace those decayed and removed for various causes for several years past. The tree warden has accomplished a good deal of work the past week in the re-planting process, the sides of the public streets now being well provided with maple, elm and linden trees. In many of the central parts of the town trees have been removed almost by the wholesale because of decay, and upon the theory that there would be no more planted in these locations the sidewalks were concreted all over. Now the tree warden, with a view of having uniform shade on the streets of Bristol, has bored into the concrete walks and planted wherever it was necessary to fill up a gap.

Captain Joseph H. Penno, who for more than 36 years served in the fire department of Providence, died in East Sandwich, Mass., at the age of 70. Recently he sustained a paralytic shock from which he did not recover. Eight years ago Captain Penno was one of the best known firemen in Providence. He was stationed at Hose 8 on Harrison street, where he had spent the major part of his service in the department. He was a genial, kindly man, popular among his associates. In January, 1893, Captain Penno was injured by a falling ladder at a fire in South Providence. The ladder struck him with great force on the head, and from the effects of this accident he never fully recovered, although he continued in the business of fire fighting until 1902. At that time, being advanced in years he was pensioned and left Providence to live in Sandwich.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To our many customers and to other readers of this notice we announce that the MUSIC & STATIONERY business, carried on at this stand for the past 33 years, has been taken over by the undersigned.

This concerns you because your absolute and perfect satisfaction is our aim. We want your trade. A large number of old customers have assured us of a continuance of theirs. Why? Because—

We have always represented things exactly as they were. As in the past we will carry only first-class goods. Our prices will be as low as possible for such goods. We want you to feel that our stock represents only the best quality obtainable. In any purchase you ever made you remembered the quality (or lack of it) long after the price was forgotten. That's the reason.

If you want second grade goods, we can get them—but you buy them knowing what they are.

You may want something we do not have in stock. We will be pleased to (and can) get it for you in a day or two from New York or Boston.

We are after your trade and by honest goods, fair prices and painstaking attention to your every wish we intend to get it. Give us a try.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Nov. 7, 8 A. M.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Fair tonight and Tuesday; moderate southerly to westerly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

There is considerable cloudiness in the Lake region and the northeast this morning, with scattered snow flurries at many stations. The weather is fair and generally clear in southwestern and middle western districts, but it is again unsettled in the extreme northwest. The depression in the northeast is central off Nova Scotia, thence westward a trough of depression extends through Ontario. In the extreme northwest a disturbance of considerable intensity appears to be entering the country. The temperature has fallen along the Atlantic coast, and has risen slightly in the central valleys. The lowest readings in New England last night ranged from 22 degrees at Northfield, Vt., to 42 degrees at Block Island, R. I. In New York at 8 a. m. the temperature was 34, Washington 32, Jacksonville 42, St. Louis 42, Chicago 30, Kansas 42, St. Paul 30, Denver 38, San Francisco 50 and Portland, Oregon, 56.

ONLY ONE HEARING.

Bailey Case Appeal to be Heard in Providence.

Large Number of Assignments Made in Brief Motion Day Session of Court.

Judge Brown held a brief session of the superior court today, it being the November motion day. The session opened about 11:15 and at 11:38 it was over. There was not a large attendance.

Some cases were assigned. Patrick J. [illegible] vs. George E. Keller, alias, was set for December 6, Studebaker Brothers Company vs. E. P. Elder for December [illegible], William S. Pearce et al. vs. [illegible] S. Tallman et al. for December [illegible], William B. Scott et al. vs. William [illegible] Stanhope et al. December 8, William [illegible] Hughes vs. Francis P. Conway, December 9, Lincoln & Hood vs. William [illegible] Tallman et al. December 9, William [illegible] vs. William L. Tallman December 9, and Manuel Medeiros Canto vs. Frank Silvia et ux. December 12.

The petition for new trial in Under[illegible] vs. Old Colony Street Railway Company will be heard in Providence, by agreement of counsel. Mr. Hugh B. [illegible] of counsel for defendant was present.

The motion to certify the case of [illegible] G. Bryant, Exec'x., vs. Peter [illegible], Trustee, to the supreme court was withdrawn.

In the case of Herbert S. Allen vs. Mary I. Allen, respondent was allowed [illegible] for counsel fees, $10 for witnesses and [illegible] a week pending trial. This was by agreement of counsel.

In Levi J. Grinnell vs. Honorah S. Grinnell, also by agreement, respondent was allowed $25, $10 and $3.50 a week.

In the case of Mae F. B. Vanicek vs. Venceslaus Vanicek, the amount of alimony was reduced, by agreement of counsel, Messrs. Burke and Nolan.

In Greenough, Attorney General, vs. [illegible] Hazard, in which demurrer was overruled, defendant is to plead in [illegible] days. Messrs. Burke and Harvey were present and assented to this.

There was a brief hearing in the case of William E. King vs. Tiverton Gas Company, Mr. DuBois of Providence appearing for plaintiff and Mr. Burdick for defendant. It was an action to recover a balance due on a contract. Mr. King, who is of Taunton, took the stand and said he had a $17,000 contract, on which $13,332.39 had been paid. He claimed that a balance of considerably more than $3,000 was due. Mr. Burdick said his clients did not deny any interest in this case. He suggested, however, that the "ad damnum" was but $3,000 and that judgment could not exceed that amount. By agreement of counsel judgment was entered for $3,000.

Mr. Harvey presented the petition of William D. Sayer, trustee under the will of William Sharples, to resign and for the appointment of Dudley E. Campbell as new trustee. The parties agreed on the account. The decree was entered.

Former Judge Mumford having come in, he and Mr. Nolan agreed that the case of Richard Freeman vs. P. J. [illegible] be set for December assignment day. The ad damnum was increased from $4,000 to $6,000.

In the bill in equity for construction of the will of Alexander Brice, Mr. Harvey was granted a decree taking the case as confessed by respondents, who had not answered.

ARMY AND NAVY BUSY.

Usual Sunday Services Held and Work of the Temperance League, Encouraging.

During Friday evening, Saturday and Sunday there were comparatively few hours when things were not busy at the rooms of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association, either in preparation for receiving the men or in attending to their needs.

Considering the confusion, with the coming and going of so many men about the city or returning, with suit cases and packages to care for, the attendance at the Bible class Sunday afternoon was surprisigly large, nearly 60 men gathering for the study.

The church party which went to the evening service at the First Methodist Episcopal Church heard a sermon from the pastor which is likely to be remembered a long time. Various members of the party commented on the earnestness and force of the message. One man said: "Gee! He hits hard, but it was all right, though."

The Bible class luncheon was prepared by a committee of the women of the First Church. Coming in from their walk, with the cool air taking effect, the expressions of appreciation as they drank hot coffee and ate the luncheon were frequent and hearty.

The women of the First Presbyterian Church will have charge of next Sunday's luncheon.

The Temperance League meeting last week was encouraging. Many young fellows who say, "I never drink, any way," are enrolling with the organization, thus obligating themselves to go one step farther than to look out for their own condition and taking the more generous view, "help the other fellow," for the honor of the [illegible]. Some who have said, "I kept the conditions of the pledge practically," [illegible] and say "Now I shall keep it absolutely." Now and then encouraging reports are given by men who have taken the pledge and, valuing their word of honor, have gone from lives of dissipation into lives of sobriety and honorable self-control.

The new president of the League, [illegible] M. Parmenter, wireles soperator, is introducing some novel features at the sessions of the organization. An interesting story of scenes in other lands is expected for the next meeting, to be told by the president, who, during [illegible] years' service has been practically everywhere in the regions visited by Uncle Sam's ships. The new badges, [illegible] silver, and a sample of the pledge cards, bearing the new name "United Men's Abstinence League" have arrived from New York.

PROBATE COURT.

In the probate court this morning the will of Joseph Leveille was proved and letters testamentary thereon were granted to Julia E. Leveille. Notice was waived and letters of administration on the estate of Bridget Nixon were granted to John Nixon. The first and final accounts of the executors of the estates of Catherine Reddy and Frances R. Dickey were allowed and ordered recorded.

Petitions for increase of the executor's bond on the estate of Anna Hazard, for consideration of the first and final account of the administrator de bonis non with the will annexed on the estate of Phebe Bateman, for the probate of the will of Julia A. Burke, and for sale of real estate of Charles [illegible] Smith, were continued to November 14.

AT THE BIJOU.

The new pictures at the Bijou Theatre are "The Conspiracy of Pontiac," an Indian story with which every school child is familiar, as the story is taken from Parkman's history; "Clothes Make the Man," showing the influence of clothes upon the reception a man receives; "A Life for Love," a dramatic subject, and "Slippery Jim," a trick picture. Miss Gertrude Reese, the "girl with the golden voice," will sing "The Hymns of the Old Church Choir" in costume. Landis & Knowles give a sister act, singing, dancing and change artists. Weston Bros. appear in a novelty bagpunching and grotesque boxing act. One of the men in this act is Jack Langley, a well known former favorite base ball player of Newport.

ANNUAL PROCLAMATION.

President Taft Appoints Day of Thanksgiving and Enjoins the People to Gratitude.

The annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation by President Taft is as follows:

"This year of 1910 is drawing to a close. The records of population and harvests, which are the index of progress, show vigorous national growth and the health and prosperous well-being of our communities throughout this land and in our possessions beyond the seas. These blessings have not descended upon us in restricted measure, but overflow and abound. They are the blessings and bounty of God.

"We continue to be at peace with the rest of the world. In all essential matters, our relations with other people are harmonious, with an ever-growing reality of friendless and depth of recognition of mutual dependence. It is especially to be noted that during the past year great progress has been achieved in the cause of arbirtation and the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

"Now, therefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America. In accordance with the wise custom of the civil magistrates since the first settlements in this land, and with the rule established from the foundation of this government, do appoint Thursday, November 24, 1910, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, enjoining the people upon that day to meet in their churches for the praise of Almighty God and to return heartfelt thanks to Him for all His goodness and loving kindness."

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mrs. C. C. Pomeroy has closed her cottage on Ocean avenue.

—Mr. Francis Byrnes, a Newport actor, is here to visit relatives.

—Mr. Purcell, one of the landlords of the Perry House, is in New York.

—Miss Ethel F. Barker, who has been visiting here, has returned to Boston.

—Mrs D. H. G. Slater and Miss Gwynne have gone to Washington for the winter.

—The fish receipts today were 17 barrels of whiting from F. W. Lawton. More are expected later in the day.

—Herbert L. Dyer has rented for Mrs. W. S. Cooper the unfurnished house at 62 Mill street to William J. Fitton.

—Torpedo boat destroyer Roe took on 50,000 gallons of Texas oil Saturday, and Sunday left the Torpedo Station. Cruiser Birmingham left today.

—Steamer Commonwealth arrived from Fall River Sunday and was laid up on the south side of Long wharf. Steamer Plymouth went on the line to take her place.

—Miss Mary E. Leonard has resigned from the choir of the United Congregational Church to accept the position of soprano in the Channing Memorial choir.

—Eleven Jersey cattle from "Oakland Farm" were shipped this afternoon to New Jersey, where they had been sold, to reduce the stock on hand.

—It looks like winter out on the bay today. The wind blows hard and things look anything except like summer, with dark clouds and dark waters.

—The Petty Officers have themselves decorated Masonic hall for their first annual ball, for which they have made extensive preparations. Freeman's orchestra will play.

—Arrivals at the Perry House include W. H. Coggeshall, New Bedford; A. Hinchey, H. B. Tileston, J. Goodman, New York; D. W. Todd, Washington; A. A. Morrison, Portland, Ore.; J. M. Smith, Portsmouth, N. H.

—Tuesday will be a holiday. It will be observed by the banks, by the city offices, and by various establishments, including the repair shops and the Torpedo Station. It is one of the few days when the licensed liquor saloons are required to be closed and when they actually are closed.

—A report is current today that Operator Litchfield of the Star Theatre has purchased the interests of the present management and will conduct it. Inquiry of Manager Kaull elicits the information that no such change has yet taken place. There is no denial that it is not in prospect, though.

—Stoves have been set up in the new polling places. Electric lights have been installed, and when the sweeping had been completed it looked as though they would be fit for business tomorrow. There are five of these —on West Broadway, at Marlborough street and at Burnside avenue; on Calvert street, and on Pelham and Perry streets, at Spring.

—An English organist and composer of note played at Trinity Church Sunday—Dr. A. Madeley Richardson, Mus. Doc., F. R. C. O. Mr. Richardson gave a short organ recital before the service, which was a revelation to his hearers. He is the editor of the Southwark Psalter, and choirmaster at the Collegiate church of Southwark, England. Many of his anthems are used in church services throughout the country.

AGAINST THE TRAFFIC.

Rev. Mr. Geisler Preaches in Answer to Circulars Sent Out by the Liquor Dealers.

At the evening service at the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday the pastor, Rev. W. F. Geisler, preached a sermon on the license question, the text being taken from the circulars which have been sent out in the interest of the liquor dealers of the state. Rev. Mr. Geisler refuted the plea of personal liberty, which the liquor dealers make for the saloon, saying that personal liberty means the right to pursue one's own welfare, but not one's injury or the injury of others. He then spoke of another term in the circular which reads, "after another year of law and order," citing the sale of wood alcohol and numerous deaths therefrom in Westerly. He opposed the claim that these deaths were due to no license in Westerly and asserted that there is illegal sale of liquor in drug stores and other places in towns where there is license.

The law does not prevent the illegal sale of liquor; the illegal sale is possible under license as well as under no license. This is true, if one can believe the report, in Newport, as well as in other places. It is current report that the saloons have been open Sunday. The license system is no protection against the dive. The liquor traffic is, he said, an outlaw in any place, license or no license. The workingman, above all, ought to condemn the saloon and use all his influence against it. He suffers most from it. In conclusion Rev. Mr. Geisler appealed to all to vote against the liquor party at the coming election.

ENLIGHTENED FROM JAMESTOWN

Independent Voter Makes Reply to Some Statements Made by Mr. O'Shaunessy.

To the Editor of The News:

In Mr. George F. O'Shaunessy's address in Newport Saturday evening he referred to his visit to Jamestown as taking a message to the unenlightened. As a citizen of that town, I know the inhabitants of the island to be of more than average intelligence. They are enlightened enough to question the statement of Mr. O'Shaunessy to them, of a 67 per cent dividend on mill stock. They find from those fortunate enough to have holdings that a fair average is and has been for the past 20 years nearer 5 per cent.

They know also that the last child labor law, one of the best on any statute book, was passed by a Republican legislature. Some of them are enlightened to the extentt of knowing that three years ago Tammany Hall candidates supported "Joe Cannon," and at that time Mr. O'Shaunessy was affiliated with Tammany. Some of the older residents, who remember sheep raising on the island, also know from experience the difference in wools.

100 BOYS WANTED!

To the Editor of The News:

Tomorrow many men will vote for license who never enter a saloon. This business needs customers, just as any other industry does. These must come from our Newport boys. Let each voter for license ask himself if he is willing for his own son to apply for the places given in the following Want Advertisement."

DEATH OF MRS. KIRKUS.

News has been received of the death in Washington, last Friday, of Mrs. Marian Kirkus, widow of Rev. William Kirkus. The deceased was a daughter of the late Job T. Langley of this city and spent her early life here, going to Baltimore on her marriage to Rev. William Kirkus, a prominent clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Since his death several years ago Mrs. Kirkus had held an important position in the Congressional Library at Washington. She was a woman of sterling qualities and held in Newport many friends of her earlier days, these relations have been retained by frequent visits here. The body was interred in Washington.

CONVENTION CLOSES.

Meetings of the King's Daughters and Sons of More Than Ordinary Interest.

The fifteenth convention of the Rhode Island branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons at St. George's Church, Central Falls, came to a close Saturday, after a series of meetings of more than ordinary interest. This is the first year the organization has held a two days' convention and the results were satisfactory. In spite of bad weather all the sessions were largely attended by delegates representing the various circles of the state and others interested in the work of the King's Daughters and Sons.

Reports of the county secretaries were presented and were of a most satisfactory nature as each district displayed an active interest in the work of the organization and reported increased membership. These reports were submitted by Mrs. W. E. Husband, Providence; Mrs. T. Fred Kaull, Newport; Mrs. J. Clarence Reeve, Kent; Miss Elva Sweet, Washington, and Mrs. F. E. Maxwell, Bristol. The report of the auditing committee showed all accounts to be correct and the committee on finance reported that the offerings at the convention came to the sum of $49.54. When all reports had been presented the new officers were given their charge by Mrs. Brokenshire and were greeted by the rising of the delegates. One resignation, that of Mrs. T. Fred Kaull as county secretary of Newport, was received.

A consecration service was held with Mrs. Laird as leader and this was followed by the closing remarks of the state secretary, Mrs. Bernard P. Raymond. Mrs. George N. Bullock, president of the Fresh Air Board, spoke of the future of the Emily S. Chase Memorial Home at Oakland Beach. In speaking of the needs of the home, she said that as it had been in use for several years the household supplies were becoming depleted. She mentioned table cloths and other household linen as being most acceptable, and said past gifts to the preserve pantry were always welcome. The treasurer of the board made a report, showing a balance of $402.94 and reporting a gift of $20 from the Watching Circle of Pawtucket. It was later voted to send a note of thanks to the children of Oaklawn for their gift to the home.

In the afternoon a memorial service was held in remembrance of members who have been taken from the order by death. This service was conducted by Mrs. David H. Leach, state secretary of the New York branch, and came to a close with the singing of a hymn.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. William O. Hathaway is visiting in New York.

—Mrs. J. H. Mahoney has closed her cottage on Bellevue avenue.

—Mr. Frederick W. Vanderbilt sailed Saturday on the Amerika for Europe.

—Mrs. Thomas Allen is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Walter Records in Westport.

—Mrs. Pembroke Jones stood the journey to Lenox Saturday remarkably well.

—Rev. and Mrs. Stanley C. Hughes, who left Sunday for Richmond, Ind., will return November 16.

—Mrs. S. A. Easton and Miss May Easton of Easton, Md., are guests of Miss Alice Todd on Whitwell avenue.

—Miss Rose P. Grosvenor, daughter of Mrs. William Grosvenor, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Dudley Davis, in New York.

—Trinity Parish Notes for November contain a tribute to Mr. Thomas Gilbert Brown, late junior warden of Trinity Church.

—Mrs. Charles Biesel has gone to Richmond, Va., to visit relatives. It is the first visit of Mrs. Biesel to her home in 10 or more years.

—Mrs. Randolph, wife of Brigadier General W. F. Randolph, U. S. A. (retired), is visiting her sister, Miss Powel, on Bowery street.

—The car crews of the Newport & Fall River division of the Old Colony railway have organized a fishing club, with Motorman James J. Bowler as captain.

—Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Newton and their two children expect soon to go to Oakland, Cal., where Mr. Newton intends to engage in business as an architect.

—Mrs. Thompson, wife of Mr. Samuel S. Thompson, who has gone to Wallum Lake for the benefit of her health, since her visit there has materially improved.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davis of Baltimore, J. W. Nelson, J. F. Milton and M. P. Webster of New York and W. M. McIsaac Jr. of New York are registered at the United States Hotel.

—Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, Col., well known for his work in the juvenile court, is to deliver a lecture before the members of the Current Topics Club and their friends in the near future.

—Mr. Charles R. Peabody, employed as salesman by Mr. James P. Taylor for several years, is soon to remove to Providence to engage in the automobile business with his brother-in-law, Mr. Justin Wilcox Flint.

—A few days ago Mrs. Harry E. Hellwig, here from Brant Rock, Mass., to visit her mother, Mrs. Robert G. Hazard, on Broadway, fell down the front steps and broke a bone in her ankle. The accident will detain her here several weeks.

—Among the debutantes of the winter in New York will be Miss Henrietta Trask, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Trask, who will be introduced at a reception December 5. Mr. and Mrs. Trask are occupying the house of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Beeckman in New York.

—Most of the pillars have been cast at the new Army and Navy building and the concrete work is progressing rapidly. [illegible] the roof [illegible] when the reinforced concrete [illegible] the [illegible] then [illegible] will be ripe for raising the frame for the second story.

—Major H. P. Young, quartermaster, U. S. A., formerly in charge of the constructing quartermaster's work at Fort Adams and other fortifications in this vicinity, has been ordered to take charge temporarily of the quartermaster's depot at San Francisco and assume the duty of general superintendent of the army transport service.

—On his own petition, William J. H. Stewart of this city has been adjudged bankrupt by the United States district court. He schedules secured claims of $200 and unsecured claims of $1,556, while his assets are listed at $245. There are 42 creditors, the largest claim being that of the National Exchange Bank of this city, $140.

—A local hardware store is making a "turkey" display which is attracting considerable attention. Coal hods, coffee pots and kettles have been used for bodies covered with crepe paper and decorated with fly killers, egg beaters, knives and spoons. Ridiculous as may seem this description of the "birds" as displayed, they do not look much different from those one is becoming accustomed to see passing up and down the streets daily. The shapes are correct, although they are only regularly modeled household utensils.

O'SHAUNESSY'S RECORD.

is true of this, as well as of any large organization, that there are good men and bad men in it. He had occasion once to clash with its head, Croker, and opposed him on the principle of the right of the individual to nominate. He caried the fight to the courts and won.

He had been associated with Mayor Gaynor in his fight against the corrupt work of John Y. McKane in Brooklyn and stood with him in his great fight for the purity of the ballot and for the defense of the principle that no boss or leader should tamper with the ballot boxes. The conviction of McKane did much to impress this on the community and the fight was for the best interests of all, and it was by Tammany men that this reform was accomplished. Tammany nominated Mayor Gaynor and elected him. Tammany nominated and elected Mayor McClellan, under whom he served as assistant corporation counsel. He was not at all ashamed of any connection he had with Tammany Hall. It contains many able men, and many who are not good, but credit must be given it for what it has done.

The speaker referred also to a fight he had with a sub-boss who was carrying things with a high hand. After a fight, in which at times personal safety was in doubt, he won and the boss was deposed and buried under an avalanche of votes.

He did not believe Mr. Sheffield's efforts to divert attention from his own record by bringing in Tammany Hall would have any effect on the voters. Mr. Sheffield has his own record to answer and he has not answered. He says he is opposed to Cannon; he spurns the old man who gave him a good place on the judiciary committee, but does he oppose Cannonism? It makes no difference who the man is if the same rule prevails; and as the late D. L. D. Granger said, a representative of the people had to crawl on his hands and knees to the Speaker to obtain recognition. Does Mr. Sheffield repudiate Cannonism? He has not answered. Neither has he answered any of the questions propounded to him.

He then spoke at length on the inequalities of the tariff, and especially of its favors for the rich and its burdens for the poor, quoting figures as on his former appearance and closing with an eloquent appeal to the voters to sustain the Democrats in their attack on the present regime of high prices and favors for the rich, and give every man, rich and poor, an even chance under the laws.

Judge Fitzsimmons.

Judge Frank E. Fitzsimmons of Lincoln was the last speaker. It was 10 o'clock when he began, but he had his cheerful stories and his taking way, and people were sorry when he closed at 10:25. He said John A. Williams was expected to close the meeting, but he must have become fascinated with the attractions of Tiverton, where he was dug for two speeches, and failed to reach here, or else one of those high-taxed automobile tires had failed him.

Mr. Fitzsimmons made a strong plea for the ticket, from top to bottom. He spoke of Dr. Clarke, of Mayor Boyle, the "perpetual mayor," of Senator Murphy, of the old Democratic leader, Lewis Brown, who he heard was suffering from a serious ailment. He referred to his own record of nearly a quarter of a century as a campaign speaker, and said he was glad to say that he had not at any time been forced to make a change of front. What the Democrats advocated at his start they were still advocating; results had only sustained the justice of their contentions.

He asked for a general support of the candidates of the party, the Congressman, the governor and the legislative ticket, which would elect an United States Senator. He called attention to the fact that the Democrats had stated their positions on public matters and the public knows where they stand. The Republican candidates had dodged the issues presented and refuse to answer questions. He believed in the heckling system, the right of voters to ask candidates who request their votes what they propose to do on certain questions. The Democratic candidates had defined their position, and the voters could act intelligently. They do not know where the Republican candidates stand, as they latter have not answered the questions propounded to them.

After the band had played and the large audience had filed out there was a gathering of the Democratic candidates for a conference.

Next time mother wants you to take old-fashioned castor oil ask her to give you Castor-Lax instead. It is tasteless.

Maybe mother hasn't heard of the new form of castor oil—Castor Lax (castor oil with magnesia in pure white powder form). Tell her about it. It's the new and sensible way of taking castor oil—the ideal laxative—but as it is tasteless and odorless, you won't mind taking it whenever mother wants you to.

Any druggist has Castor Lax or will gladly get it for you.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with lusterless or stringy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

GROWERS SEND MANY EXHIBITS.

The First New England Corn Exposition Opens in Worcester.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 7.—Thousands of visitors from New England and other states attended the opening ceremonies of the New England Corn Exposition here today. Practically every agricultural organization in the east sent representatives, among whom are experts of national reputation. The exposition, which is the first of its kind to be held in New England, will last one week. More than 2,000 exhibits have been made by the corn growers of New England, who will compete for prizes valued at $6,700. The attractions include the entire exhibit of the federal Department of Agriculture, as well as displays by leading concerns dealing in agricultural products.

Following the dedicatory exercises at 2 o'clock addresses were delivered by well known authorities in agriculture. Professor C. A. Zavitz of Guelph, Ontario, spoke on "The Improvement of Farm Crops." Dr. H. J. Webber of Ithaca, N. Y., took for his subject "The Breeding of Grasses." Tonight the speakers will be Professor W. J. Spillman of Washington and Professor Alva Agee of State College, Pennsylvania.

The management predicts that the acreage yield and quality of New England corn will be increased nearly 50 per cent by the exposition.

FOR USE OF NAVAL MILITIA.

Cruiser Boston and Gunboat Concord Not to be Sold at Auction.

SEATTLE, WASH., Nov. 7.—Cruiser Boston and gunboat Concord, which were a part of Admiral Dewey's fleet in the battle of Manila Bay, may be turned over to the Washington naval militia instead of being sold at public auction, as recently ordered by the Navy Department. A telegram from the Navy Department has been received at the Puget Sound navy yard asking estimates on the cost of fitting out the old warship, for the use of the naval militia.

WITH LOCAL SPEAKERS.

Second Ward Club Holds Enthusiastic Rally and Hears Several Good Addresses.

The Second Ward Club had a lively rally in Canonchet hall Saturday evening, in support of the Republican candidates. The club for a number of years has held rallies during the campaign and Saturday evening's was one of the most enthusiastic and interesting in its history. The speakers included William H. Jackson, president of the club; Charles G. D. Fayerweather, toastmaster of the evening; Senator John P. Sanborn, Representative Robert S. Franklin, Rev. Henry N. Jeter, D. D., Max Levy, Benjamin F. Tanner and Dr. William H. Mathews.

Mr. Fayerweather, in opening the meeting, spoke briefly, saying the members of the club were gathered to hear the issues of the campaign discussed, and bespoke a careful hearing on the part of the members.

Representative Franklin was the first speaker and compared the two candidates for Congress. Mr. Sheffield, he said, is a man who in his brief term at Washington had made an excellent reputation in the House of Representatives. He is thoroughly conversant with the needs and possibilities of Newport, while Mr. O'Shaunessy has but recently come to Rhode Island and is untried in political affairs and unacquainted with the requirements of the state.

Senator Sanborn said the Democrats had conducted a campaign of deceit and misrepresentation, and paid attention to the arguments of Mr. O'Shaunessy on the tariff and the high cost of living, which are full of loopholes, made up chiefly of misrepresentations. He spoke strongly in favor of Mr. Sheffield, who, he said, is a man trained in the art of legislation and thoroughly conversant with the needs of Newport. He also referred to the campaign for state offices and, for the General Assembly in Newport, paying special attention to the contest in the Fourth Assembly district, the mention of Mr. Beeckman's name being the signal for hearty applause.

Mr. Max Levy said the interests of the colored man are in the Republican party, spoke enthusiastically of the work which Congressman Sheffield had done for Newport, for the state and its institutions, and urged his hearers to work hard for his reelection and their own interests. Rev. Mr. Jeter spoke in his characteristic way, urging the colored men to continue to vote the Republican ticket. Mr. Benjamin F. Tanner and Dr. W. H. Mathews were the concluding speakers, the former briefly and the latter more at length, giving an interesting story of his own experiences in the South and showing why the colored man should loyally support the Republican ticket.

During the evening the Lincoln band furnished a program of music, playing several selections while the assemblage was gathering and between the speeches.

ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD.

Rovers Have Easy Victory Over Seamen Gunners and St. George's Lose to Middlesex.

The Rovers had something of a picnic with the team of the Seamen Gunners at Wellington park Sunday. The Seamen Gunners were not in training to play a full game against an experienced and seasoned team like the Rovers, and while they did well in the first period they gradually weakened as their lack of condition showed, the end being a walkover for the more experienced and better-conditioned team. The Rovers scored once in the first period, when their opponents were in the best form. Their condition was good and they played a faster game than heretofore this season, and besides had their full team out, so that the result was never in doubt. Touchdowns were made by Hickey 2, West, Devlin and Sullivan, and West scored twice in tries for goal, the final score being Rovers 27, Seamen Gunners 0.

The St. George's School team was defeated by the Middlesex School team of Boston, on the grounds in Middletown Saturday, by a score of 12 to 3. The game was closely contested except in the third period, when Middlesex did practically all its scoring, two touchdowns being made by P. Windsor and Miller, from which goals were kicked by Emerson. St. George's only scored was on a goal from the field by Kellen. For the visitors Miller and Sanderson excelled, and for St. George's Kellen, Shaeft and Swain played a star game.

A MISSIONARY FROM INDIA.

At the First Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday morning, preceding the Communion service, Miss Lily Dexter Greene, a missionary in India now at home on a furlough, spoke briefly of the work in that country. She gave a vivid and picturesque account of the labors of the missionaries, especially in the schools for young girls, and quite charmed her hearers by her message and her manner. Again, during the Sunday School session, she spoke, especially to the children.

In connection with the morning service two members were admitted by letter and two from probation.

COMMENDED BY BISHOP HARKINS.

At the services in the Catholic churches of the Diocese of Providence Sunday a letter was read from Bishop Harkins, congratulating the several parishes on the fine showing made by each and every one in the big Holy Name parade in Providence a week ago and commending those who took part for the zeal shown in making a fine display in honor of the Holy Name. It also stated, in accordance with what the Bishop said at the Benediction at St. Michael's Church which closed the demonstration, that hereafter at the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in all the churches of the diocese, there will be a short praise service in honor of the Holy Name of Jesus.

PETITION DRAFTED FOR A REPRIEVE.

Crippen Not to be Executed Tuesday as Arranged.

His Wife Reported to be Alive and Hiding in Chicago.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—It was officially announced today that Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, would not be executed tomorrow as originally arranged, for the reason that the law provides that two weeks must elapse between the dismissal of an appeal and the carrying out of the sentence. November 23 has been fixed upon as the date for the execution. Solicitor Newton, Crippen's counsel, is drafting a petition for a reprieve.

The Philadelphia Press this morning published an interview with Francis T. Tobin, a lawyer of that city, who stated that he was in possession of proof that Belle Elmore, for whose murder Dr. Crippen has been sentenced to death, was alive and hiding near Chicago. Mr. Tobin intimated that he would ask the State Department to direct the American ambassador at London to lay the matter before the British home secretary. It is a far cry from Mr. Tobin's assertion to the official announcement at London today that the execution of Crippen would be delayed until November 23, but the coincidence is striking in view of the fact that the announcement was the first intimation that the English law provided for a fortnight's delay, between the dismissal of an appeal and the execution of a death sentence. On the contrary it was understood that the appeal hearing was set for November 5, in order that a postponement of the execution would not be necessary. Mr. Tobin's theory that Crippen's wife is alive had been exploited in different quarters from the time of her disappearance. At no time, however, has anything definite been produced to substantiate the story.

THE EGG LOBSTER LAW.

Figures Given Regarding Propagation, Beating Nature 1,000 Times, Ridiculous.

To the Editor of The News:

The new egg lobster law is so strenuously defended and so earnestly justified by its promoters that it has from a raw article become overcooked. We are told that they have purchased 3,500 egg lobsters and of these 1,500 were utilized, in hatching fry, but what became of the 2,000 not so used, for which the state paid 15 cents per pound? "They planted them just as received; that is, they threw them into the water, where they are suffered to remain like oysters and retain their allegiance to the state of Rhode Island, whose property they are. This it is said is no loss to the state; "this money has gone directly into the lobster interest."

"The supply of lobsters is directly proportioned to the number of lobsters that hatch their eggs." We think that the most important factor is the natural enemies that destroy them by millions. Now we have great confidence in Dr. Barnes, but none in a mathematical display of figures which say "the method of lobster propagation carried on by Superintendent Barnes makes the lobster 1,000 times more productive than if allowed to hatch its eggs under the conditions of nature." In my experience I have found nature the most satisfactory, producing apparently 100 per cent. By some unrevealed process it is claimed for Mr. Barnes that he can beat nature "a thousand times," in hatching the lobsters. The extravagance of the claim is ridiculously absurd. What will happen if his process is tried on other forms of animal life?

ANSWER IN AFFIRMATIVE.

Four Local Democratic Nominees for the Assembly Reply to Carpenters' Questions.

Four of the Democratic candidates for the Assembly from this city have answered affirmatively questions submitted to all legislative nominees in the state by the Rhode Island Council of Carpenters, as to whether they would, if elected, work for and support measures for the initiative and referendum for the appointments of a commission to investigate industrial accidents and employers' liabilities, for the eradication of tuberculosis and requiring passenger-carrying corporations to grant better conditions to their patrons than exist at present. The replies were given by Messrs. Isaac W. Barker, William E. Mumford, William Herbert Sisson and John B. Sullivan.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

George F. O'Shaunessy, Democratic candidate for Congressman from the First district, addressed a small audience in the Gardner House hall Saturday evening. Had the rally been better advertised probably more would have been out. Mr. O'Shaunessy spoke only briefly of the tariff, spending considerable time on the history of the great men of the country, and also speaking some time on the high cost of living and the wages of the laboring man. He was introduced by Mr. Samuel Smith, Jr., of this town and with them on the platform was Captain S. Rousseau.

Mrs. John Braithwaite and her brother-in-law, Mr. James H. Braithwaite of Cambridge, Mass., have spent several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. William H. Jones on Clinton avenue, at Smithdale Cottage, fishing from the rocks and having a good time generally.

Amateur fishermen visited the island in large numbers Sunday, the Conanicut being taxed to her full capacity on the 4:20 trip to take the carriages and automobiles returning to Newport. A special trip was made later to carry over a belated automobile party. The air was too cool to make fishing pleasant and the fish were not biting as well as earlier in the season.

Mrs. Raymond Waldron, who has been guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brooks, has returned to Providence.

Mrs. T. A. H. Tefft, who has been visiting on the island, has returned to Shawmut, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodman of Providence, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Clarke, have returned home.

A large number of out-of-town farmers are on the island today, to attend the auction at the S. A. Peirce place at the West ferry.

PATENT MEDICINES

The man who is his own lawyer has a fool for a client. This is even more so when a man is his own doctor.

The indiscriminate swallowing and application of all kinds of advertised patent and proprietary medicines including the numerous frauds that have recently been exploited in the "health" and "beauty" columns of the papers are most certain to do irreparable mischief.

First Aid to the Doctor.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 Wall Street.—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 71¼, American Smelting and Refining 82⅝, Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe 104⅝, Canadian Pacific 198, Chesapeake & Ohio 84⅝, Chicago Mil. & St. Paul 126⅝, Colorado Fuel and Iron 34⅞, Erie 30⅜, Great Northern pfd., 128, Interborough Metropolitan 22½, Interborough Metropolitan preferred 58¾, New York Central 116½.

10 The opening dealings in stocks were light and the changes generally small, especially in the usual active stocks. Gains were largely in the majority, but there was a fair sprinkling of declines. Sears Roebuck rose 1¾. Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line Southern Railway preferred, Kansas City Southern and Cleveland, Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis 1, and Louisville & Nashville and Sloss Sheffield Steel large fractions. Virginia Carolina Chemical and American Agricultural Chemical declined large fractions.

11—Profit taking cancelled most of the rise in Union Pacific, and this induced sales of other stocks. Some of the leaders sagged to under Saturday's closing. Fresh bidding of Union Pacific started another general advance and the whole list sold higher than at the outset. Union Pacific reached 1⅝, Reading, Kansas City Southern preferred, National Lead and Bethlehem Steel 1, and Texas and Pacific Land Trust 2 points.

Noon—Speculative interest centered in Union Pacific, but that stock reacted 1 point and the general list failed to respond to its advance. Allowance of southeastern freight advances by the Interstate Commerce Commission sustained the Southern Railway group. The firm money market held the stock operations in restraint. Fractional declines were shown by important stocks at noon. Bonds were irregular. Money on call strong at 4½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 5½ to 6 per cent. Exchanges $208,386,155; balances $10,567,935.

ST. MARY'S CENSUS.

Careful Canvass of the Parish Shows Total of 1,303 Families and 6,014 Souls.

According to the recent census of St. Mary's parish, made as usual by the priests, there were found to be 1,303 families and 6,014 souls belonging to the parish. This result was arrived at according to the rule of counting every residence where one or more Catholics live as a family, and counting all who declared themselves as Catholics, whether practically so or not. The work was done by Fathers Reddy, Tierney and Coyle, who took special care to make the list as correct as possible and eliminate all duplications.

The priests of St. Joseph's parish are now engaged in making a similar census of that parish. This census taking is also make the occasion for a visit to all Catholics in the parishes.

The town council held a special meeting at the town hall to canvass the voting list for the annual town meeting. The members present were Warren R. Sherman, John L. Tallman, Robert H. Manchester, Henry F. Anthony and Minot A. Steele.

The following were drawn to serve as jurors at the United States circuit court in Providence: Grand, George Anthony, William B. Clarke; petit, Charles Carr, Jr., Edward Almy, Albert E. Sherman, John M. Brownell.

The voting list was corrected by adding 1 name and removing 11, leaving a total of 432 qualified voters.

The following bills were ordered paid: John B. Cornell, overseer of the poor, salary for 1909 and 1910, $30; John B. Cornell, commissioner of town asylum, salary, for 1909, and 1910, $30; Charles Carr surveyor, repairs and building new road in highway district, No. 2, $236.55; Minot A. Steele, council fees this meeting, $10; John B. Cornell, services as janitor at town hall from May 3 to November 7, $26; Dr. Minot R. Steele, services and medicine, to James Bronson $52.50; Michael McCann, $5; George W. Macomber, $90; examining Munroe children before entering State Home and School, $1.

The clerk was instructed to notify the State Board of Public Roads of certain complaints in relation to the bridge at the north entrance of St. Mary's Church grounds.

The janitor was empowered to ascertain junk in the cellar of the hall.

The symptoms of Mr. Benjamin B. White, who has been alarmingly ill for several days, were reported Sunday night as being more favorable, but he is still very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall of Newport and Mrs. Clara E. Dennis were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Almy Sunday.

Mrs. Edward B. Ayler has gone to Boston to visit her sister, Mrs. Robert Teamon.

Mrs. Hortense Pierce and her daughter, Miss Emily Pierce, who have been visiting Mrs. Pierce's sister, Mrs. Frank Robinson of Cambridge, have returned home.

Mr. Louis S. Sisson has contracted with a Fall River builder to erect a new barn on the Sisson farm, to take the place of the one recently burned.

Miss Hattie Peabody of Middletown has been spending a week with her sister, Mrs. C. Woodman Chase.

Miss Carolyn D. Anthony was guest Saturday night and Sunday of Miss McLeod of Fall River.

Mr. and Mrs. William Caswell were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Molden of Middletown.

Mrs. George G. Brawley has been spending a few days in Newport, a part of the time, with her brother, Mr. Charles A. Manchester.

Mr. N. McGill, who recently purchased a tract of land on Wapping road, has begun the cellar for a new house.

Miss Crowley, teacher of the intermediate department of the Newtown school, who has been boarding with Mrs. William Burke at Bristol Ferry, has gone to Mr. Perry B. Anthony's on Quaker hill, to make her home for the winter.

Miss Kate L. Durfee has returned from Providence, where she was guest at the birthday surprise party given to Mr. Horace Remington.

A great deal of work is being done preparatory to the coffee supper to be given by the parishioners of St. Anthony's Church.

Several new buildings are being put up at the Rhode Island Coal Company's plant and a number of dwellings are to be erected in the near future.

Mrs. William F. Carr has fine pink roses growing out of doors, as also has Mrs. Clara E. Dennis, hers being pink ramblers, which were not at all affected by the recent storm.

THE CHANNING CONFERENCE SESSION.

The eighty-ninth annual session of the Channing Conference, of which the Channing Memorial Church of this city is a member, will be held in Providence Wednesday, with the Bell Street Chapel Society, the following being the program:

10 a. m.—Opening of the conference; business.

10:30—Address, Rev. William C. Brown, "What a Church Can Do to Promote Public Good Will."

11:30—Discussion, led by Rev. J. H. Applebee and Rev. Joel Metcalf.

12:15—Devotional service, conducted by Rev. A. H. Winn of the Bell Street Chapel.

2:30—Rev. Charles W. Wendte; "The International Congress at Berlin and Its Pilgrims."

Wednesday evening Rev. Arthur H. Winn will be installed as minister of the Bell Street Chapel, the installation sermon being preached by Rev. S. C. Clothers, D. D.

INSTRUCTION CAR HERE.

Arrival of Modern Traveling Electric Road Laboratory.

Thoroughly Equipped With Appliances for Demonstration to Motormen.

Car S 77 with "Instruction Car" on its running signboards, arrived at the local barn of the Old Colony Street Railway Company Saturday afternoon, for a stay of a week. It is a traveling electric road laboratory and each motorman will receive instruction for a whole day.

The car is one of the latest type of semi-convertibles, with air-closed doors, multi-control or train equipment, and the latest devices throughout. The seats have been removed and the interior fitted with all kinds of mechanism for demonstrations in connection with the lectures which are given within the car by experts.

A class of five men is taken at a time. Four of them, seated in front of a demonstration board, can see the defects of the other member in working the controllers on either a two-motor or a four-motor car, by an ingenious arrangement of lights and small motors on the board. Some motormen start their cars with a jerk, or run them continuously on intermediate speeds not intended.

The board shows just what this sort of improper running does to the car equipment. Passengers know well how they have been thrown about; now the motormen are to be told in plain terms that this kind of driving is not necessary, that it is injurious for both passengers and the motors, and must now cease.

There is a motor with its gear case stripped off, to show its workings, the pull of its magnets and the places where trouble is likely to come.

The instructor is a graduated technology school electrician, who explains the apparatus throughout, the causes and the ways of making repairs, and to get a car back to the barn. He is assisted by a chief motorman, who is an expert in his line of handling a car.

In addition to the controller stands, motors and resistance, which have to do with the actual propelling of the car, there are all kinds of switches for the control of the operating current and the safeguarding of the motors. There is a complete layout of the air brake apparatus, so that its entire working can be shown: a miniature signal light equipment, to show the men how to use properly these lights, and even an electrically operated track switch. There are none of these switches in this vicinity at present, but they are being installed elsewhere and will eventually reach Newport.

The regular equipment of this most modern build of car is also explained to the men, in preparation for the future. It is demonstrated how the windows may all be opened so as to make practically an open car, as it is the idea of the semi-convertible to have a car which is equally comfortable in summer or winter. Then there is the air device, whereby the motorman opens or closes the doors, while the steps work automatically with the doors. Each door is worked individually from either end of the car. By this arrangement passengers are unable to enter or leave a car until the motorman has made a full stop. There is of course no standing on the steps, for there are none when the doors are closed. Even the fenders are so constructed and covered that they offer no foothold.

In the dashboard at either end of the car is the plugging box for multi-control. By connecting cars of this type by cables a number may be run on a train, each doing its proportionate part of the propulsion and yet all controlled by one motorman in the head car. The car is ventilated, when closed, by fans lighted by a new distribution of lamps, and is in itself as commodious and comfortable as a passenger car.

As the company is now adding semi-convertibles each year to its equipment, they will probably in time be running between Fall River and Newport.

The instruction car will be located at the barn during its stay here, its actual running not being necessary in the class work. If run over the lines in the city at all, it will be only for the purpose of showing the public how the company is spending thousands of dollars in fitting up a schoolroom that the employes may be given all the knowledge possible, and thus secure a better and safer running of the cars.

Motormen Burbidge, Bowler and Winsor are undergoing instruction today.

BALL TO BE RELIEVED.

Pay Director Leeds C. Kerr Assigned to Duty in Charge of the Local Office.

November 13 Pay Director Richard T. M. Ball, U. S. N., will be relieved of the charge of the local navy pay office by Pay Director Leeds C. Kerr. Pay Director Ball, who has been in charge of the Newport office since early last summer, when Pay Director Drury was retired, is one of the best known officers of the pay corps. He entered the service June 15, 1880, and has had held many important posts in the corps—served on the Minneapolis during the Spanish-American war, was attached to receiving ship Independence and served as general storekeeper at the Mare Island yard and on the Philadelphia until June 30, 1895, when he was ordered to the navy pay office, Washington. He was appointed general inspector of the corps January 3, 1907, and served in that capacity until June 1, 1909, when he was assigned to the charge of the navy pay office, San Francisco, the duties of which office he relinquished to come to Newport.

Pay Director Ball was promoted to paymaster, March 16, 1895, to pay inspector September 28, 1902, and to pay director, March 11 1909. Pay Director Ball goes from Newport to duty in charge of the navy pay office, Baltimore.

FIRE AT WEAVER'S.

Damage Was Small, But Blaze in a Barrel in the Machine Shop Looked Bad.

Just before 6 o'clock this morning Postal Clerk Thomas S. Stanhope while on his way to the postoffice, discovered a fire in the machine shop at George A. Weaver's store on the Spring Street front, and pulled box 23. It seems to have been a discovery in the nick of time, though Mr. Stanhope when he saw the slight flame and the sparks through the windows of the third story, was not quite sure it was a fire and asked a passing milkman for his judgment.

When the firemen arrived a ladder was thrown up to one of the windows and the Chemical stream was taken up and soon the flames, which were confined to a barrel, were out. This morning Manager Weaver places the loss at possibly 75 cents. It was another lucky escape from a bad fire. When the apparatus arrived the firemen instinctively laid the hose, for there was no disposition to suffer loss of time in case more fire than the Chemical could care for was found. The men working from a ladder did not need to break in doors, and had come and gone before the employes of the building knew anything about what was going on.

The fire was undoubtedly caused by spontaneous combustion. The firemen said there was rubber and oily waste in the barrel, but at the shop they say the waste is kept elsewhere. The barrel was supposed to contain a lot of old scraps which have been there for years.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS.

Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr and Mrs. Harvey F. Copeland Celebrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey F Copeland celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding at their home on the West Main road, Middletown, Saturday evening, when a large number of friends from Newport, Middletown, and Portsmouth, gathered to offer congratulations on their golden wedding anniversary. Among the guests were Rev. William Safford Jones and a number of members of the Channing Memorial Church, where Mr. and Mrs. Copeland are actively interested. The couple were assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Copeland of Providence, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Hopkins of Fall River, the latter a daughter, Mrs. Chase Sanford of this city and Miss Manchester of Providence, nieces, and Mrs. F. A. Corbett, Miss Norman and the Misses Congdon of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Copeland were married by Rev. Charles F. Brooks in this city November 5, 1860, and after living in East Providence and Providence several years have made their home in Middletown for the past 18 years. Mrs. Copeland is a daughter of the late Henry Hudson of this city and she and a brother, William Hudson of Buffalo, N. Y., are the only survivors of a large family of children. Mr. Copeland is still actively engaged in farming.

TOOK WARM CLOTHING.

Five Cottages Near the Bristol Ferry Station Entered, But Other Valuables Not Disturbed.

Town Sergeant Relley of Portsmouth was doing some detective work Sunday—not that he prefers that day, but because he had only just heard of the trouble. Five cottages near the Bristol Ferry station were entered, belonging to Robert McGuire of Fall River, Albert S. Eldridge of Taunton, Mr. Smith and Mr. Spencer of Fall River and one of which the owner did not seem to be known.

The breaks were evidently made between Wednesday night and Saturday night and the presence of sand from the beach close by, on a window seat, where entrance was secured, showed that the burglars came in a boat. It was evident that the men desired warm clothing and bedding for the cold weather then approaching, for the articles taken were bedding, old clothing and sweaters. There was silver ware and other valuables which a real burglar would have taken, but the fishermen, or oystermen, or bay pirates, or whoever took this bedding and clothing, did not need that and did need clothing.

Officer Relley advised the owners to remove any valuables from the cottages, which are situated on the shore, and though quite close to the Bristol Ferry station are far from police protection, or even from observation from the station.

NIGHT SESSION OF COURT.

Clerk Kelley Summoned to Tiverton to Accept Bail for a Man Arrested for Illegal Sale.

Late Saturday night a local liquor dealer was called up on the telephone from Tiverton and asked to procure an automobile, and in it bring Clerk Kelley of the district court to the police staion in that town, to accept bail for a man arrested for the illegal sale of liquor. It was represented that an arrest had been made because of the heat of politics in that town and the man under arrest was accustomed to better accommodations than are provided by the Tiverton police station. A little party was made up and routing the "judge" out of bed started over the road, and at 3 A. M. a prominent Fall River liquor dealer was released from confinement, to appear later for trial.

The story goes that there was a political meeting and some one decided that a good supply of wet goods was needed. The Fall River dealer was telephoned to, and it would seem as if he brought it o the town in his automobile, from the stories told. It is also said that some one "peached" and the police learned of the coming of the automobile and lay in wait for it. There are some things in the affair which are not clear, like most political doings, but it may be that these will be explained when the case comes to trial in court.

POLICE BUSINESS.

In the police court Sunday morning Cassius U. Hallock had a delinquent dog owner, who refused to have his dog licensed. The owner found that what the constable had told him about having his dog licensed was the fact, and as he agreed to license the animal he was discharged on payment of costs, which were $3.60. There were also two drunks, who paid $2 and costs each; one reveller, $3 and costs and a man for assault $10 and costs—all paid. This morning there were two drunks, who paid $2 and costs each.

Some time during the night some one maliciously broke a pane of glass in the saloon of James Dunn on Long wharf. There was another break, in the photograph gallery of C. B. Bishop, on Thames street, which was a different sort of affair, for the gallery was entered, drawers were pulled out and a dollar taken.

THIS AN "ON" YEAR.

Congressman and Senatorial Assembly to be Chosen.

Candidates to be Voted for and Figures of the Elections of 1908 and 1909.

Tomorrow will be election day. This is an "on year," which means a year when a Congressman is elected. In addition to the regular state and Assembly tickets, a Congressman will be elected and the Assembly-elect will choose a United States Senator and also pass on the proposed amendment to the United States constitution in regard to the election of United States Senators by the people instead of by the state legislatures.

As usual since the license question has been voted on yearly, because of the decision of the court, there will be two ballots. One large state ballot will contain the names of the nominees for Congress and the state ticket, the senator and the representative from the district. The other has the license matter.

In reading the warrant for election the voter will see a long section about a constitutional amendment for biennial sessions, but this will not be voted on by him, except indirectly. The proposition will be read before the voting begins. The legislature-elect will act on this proposed amendment, and if it passes it will then come to the voters for their decision.

The ballots can be marked as in years past. If one desires to vote a straight party ticket he can do so by marking a cross in the circle under the party emblem. If he wishes to vote a split ticket the safest way is to forget the party emblem and mark a cross in the square following the names of the candidates for whom he wishes to vote, being careful to make a full cross directly in the square, not to put the point of his pencil on any part of the ballot except where he marks the cross, and not to mark for two candidates for the same office. Another precaution to be remembered is to use the pencil provided in the booth. If it is not sharp the moderator—that is the title of the warden this year—will have it sharpened. If one uses a fountain pen, or a pencil which makes a different kind of mark from that made by those provided in the booth, the returning board is likely to throw out the ballot.

As in years past, The News prints below the names of all the candidates to be voted for, arranged in the same order in which they appear on the official ballot, the Republican ticket having the first column, the Democratic the second, the Prohibitionist the third and the Socialist-Labor the fourth. The Socialists have the fifth column, but they have only a Congressman nominated, their state ticket not being on the official ballot. The names follow:

Republican, Emblem, eagle.

Congress—William Paine Sheffield.
Governor—Aram J. Pothier.
Lieutenant Governor—Zenas W. Bliss.
Secretary of State—J. Fred Parker.
Attorney General—William B. Greenough.
General Treasurer—Walter A. Read.
Senator—John P. Sanborn.
Representative—See below.

Democrat, Emblem, star.

Congress—George F. O'Shaunessy.
Governor—Lewis A. Waterman.
Lieutenant Governor—Philip E. Clarke.
Secretary of State—Alberic A. Archambault.
Attorney General—John I. Devlin.
General Treasurer—Tristam D. Babcock.
Senator—George D. Ramsay.
Representative—See below.

Prohibition. Emblem, fountain.

Congress—Richard R. Macomber.
Governor—Nathaniel C. Greene.
Lieutenant Governor—William W. Estes.
Secretary of State—Ernest L. Merry.
Attorney General—Thomas H. Peabody.
General Treasurer—William G. Lawton.

Socialist-Labor, Emblem, arm and hammer.

Governor—Thomas F. Herrick.
Lieutenant Governor—Richard Holland.
Secretary of State—Augustus McDermott.
General Treasurer—Bernard J. Murray.

Socialist. Emblem, scales.

Congress—Stanley Curtis.

It will be noted that no representative is named. Each district will elect one representative, but they will not be elected on the general ticket, as heretofore. Voters will find only two names, one Republican and one Democrat, on the ticket, except in the First district, where, to one side, and not under a party heading, the independent candidate, L. H. Raymond, will be found. The nominees for the Assembly, whose names will be found, as designated, on the various district tickets, are as follows:

First District.

Fletcher W. Lawton, R.
Isaac W. Barker, D.
Lewis H. Raymond, Independent Nomination.

Second District.

Horace N. Hassard, R.
William E. Mumford, D.

Third District.

Robert S. Franklin, R.
William Herbert Sisson, D.

Fourth District.

R. Livingston Beeckman, R.
William A. Maher, D.

Fifth District.

John B. Sullivan, D.

There is another ticket, on which the voters express their preferences on the license question. There seems to be

Rev. Dr. Porter Preaches to Newport Artillery at Evening Service in Emmanuel Church.

The Newport Artillery attended the evening service at Emmanuel Church Sunday, when Rev. Emery H. Porter, D. D., chaplain of the company, preached his annual sermon. The company turned out in full ranks, under the command of Colonel Frank P. King, and marched to the church, where the men were given seats in the centre of the auditorium, near the chancel. The remainder of the church was filled with friends of the company and members of the congregation of Emmanuel.

Dr. Porter preached from the text in Hosea XIV:4: "I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely." At the conclusion of the sermon Chaplain Porter, as is his custom, addressed the company directly, the members standing. In this part of his sermon especially Dr. Porter spoke earnestly in a personal appeal to the members to work as Christian soldiers and citizens for civic betterment, as well as for individual improvement, setting forth the opportunities for and the needs of strong men in the social and business world.

During the address Chaplain Porter said this would probably be his last sermon as chaplain of the company, as he proposes at the next annual election to decline to stand for re-election. He said that in his 17 years of service as chaplain he had preached the annual sermon every year but one, when Rev. Richard Arnold Greene officiated.

At the conclusion of the service Chaplain Porter shook hands with every member of the company.

CLOSE MATCH BETWEEN COGGESHALL AND BIESEL.

The weekly rifle match of the Providence Revolver Club members was held Saturday evening, under rather bad conditions at the start, as it was raining hard and blowing. Soon after the match started the wind died down and the rain ceased, and the shooting was good. Coggeshall and Biesel had quite a match of it, Coggeshall winning with a good 467 and Biesel finishing with 463. Brooks came next with 456, leading Henderson one point. Almy finished with 448 and Thurston 436. The scores were as follows:

F. Coggeshall,	230	237—467
J. Biesel,	234	229—463
P. Brooks,	232	234—456
W. Henderson,	229	226—455
W. Almy,	223	225—448
W. Thurston,	217	219—436

The bull's eye match was won by P. Brooks.
